

Wouter Ghysens , AT&T
Global Project Manager – BSO Business Solution

Wouter graduated in 2001 with a Master in programmer applied informatics. By that time he already knew his interests were more on the technical aspect than on the programming itself.

He joined AT&T in January 2004 as 1st line network technician in support of EMEA business, before he held multiple functions in the Service Assurance area. As Operations Manager of the Customer Maintenance Center, he transitioned activities from Belgium to Czech Republic in 2013. Which prepared him for his next role, where he resides since then as a Global Project Manager.

In this role, he manages the A-Z roll-out of new complex service delivery projects for AT&T's largest customers using best-in-class professional project management practices.

Within AT&T, he's the proud lead of the AT&T Spirit Team and co-lead of AT&T Aspire in Belgium. For Aspire he works together with JA, VLAJO and LJE for all kind of projects like the dreamcoach and entrepreneurs-in-the-class. Aspire fosters and encourages high school students to stay in education and acquire skills pertinent to the work place. Aspire is currently active with AT&T in 11 locations outside the USA.

Wouter lives in the Brussels surroundings with his wife Sofie and daughters Lore (9 years old) and Fien (8 years old). When not at work he loves running, walking and skiing with friends. In daily life he goes by the slogan "Lead by example".
